Letters to Friends Indicate
Attitude Toward 1928
Election

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1926, By Post Pub. Co.
Washington—Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, has written friends recently that he believes that Calvin Coolidge is the logical man to succeed himself as president of the United States in the election of 1928.This reply has gone forth a sov-erain inquiry into the possibility of getting things started in his behalf
for the next presidential election.
Every man of prominence and popularity in public life has politically minded friends who feel that two years ahead of an election is none too early to start. The secretary of commerce, however, has squelched all these efforts and there is no one in the Coolidge cabinet who is more loyal to the president politically and otherwise.It is known that Mr. Hoover has long desired to make a public statement of his belief in the necessity of nominating and electing Mr. Coolidge but he has been embarrassed by the fact that Mr. Coolidge has preferred
not to have anyone in his official family—even discussing 1928 because it might be misconstrued as having been inspired by him.

HAS KEPT SILENT

So, Mr. Hoover has kept silent. And the fact that he wrote several letters
to friends espousing the Coolidge cause was not disclosed by him; but leaked out Tuesday through some of those who had learned of the letters
after they were sent.The peculiar importance of Mr.
Hoover's pronouncement, however, is that he is being accused in political circles of having an eye on the 1928
presidential nomination. In congress,
especially, the secretary of commerce
was not always regarded as approving or disapproving measures without a suggestion of political advantage or disadvantage. Opponents of some of Mr. Hoover's policies have not omitted the opportunity to ascribe his efforts against certain kinds of foreign loans as being a bid for political support for himself.All this has only irritated the secretary of commerce and stimulated him
to scotch the political angle once and for all. This now has been done in his communications.It is said that President Coolidge knows of Mr. Hoover's attitude, indeed that he has known it for some time and that efforts to cause friction between the White House and Mr. Hoover on the ground that Mr. Hoover was planning
his own political campaign have caused
only amusement to those at the Executive Mansion who have known the truth. Mr. Hoover is in a most important position and it is probable that speech and action will be considered a personal political effort but it really is intended to strengthen the Coolidge administration.

STILL YOUNG MAN

Mr. Hoover is one of the youngest men in political life and some day he may be considered seriously for the presidential nomination but not in 1928 unless, of course, Mr. Coolidge should upstage all calculations by refusing to run again.Mr. Hoover will complete next spring his tenth consecutive year in public life here. He is one of the few men who came here during the war and served in both Democratic and Republican administrations in positions of executive responsibility.He is popular among the correspondents here who recognize his ability and if it were left to them some day
to choose a president on merit and ability and not by the usual standards
of politics they would unquestionably pick him as eminently qualified.But politics nowadays is all-powerful and especially organization work.
Mr. Hoover has maintained his Republican regularity ever since his first announcement in the spring of 1920 but it is unquestioned that he still retains a considerable support in the Democratic party. What 1932
may bring is one thing but no far as 1928 is concerned he is for Calvin Coolidge.

Milwaukee police Wednesday in connection with a $300,000 bank holdup
in the Wisconsin city.

tectives in connection with the murder of Don Mellett, Canton (O.) publisher. Psaltis admits being in the vicinity of Canton on the night of the murder, but denies knowledge of

DRY RESOLUTIONWould Modify Volstead Act
to Permit Sale of 2.75 Per Cent BeerGreen Bay—(AP)—Labor prepared Wednesday to express its attitude towards important matters with the introduction of a host of resolutions
before the annual convention of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor.
Opposition to the citizens military training camps and modification of the Volstead act to permit the sale of beer containing 2.75 per cent alcohol
were among the resolutions deferred
to committees during the short session Wednesday. The 200 delegates representing 72,000 men and women affiliated with the organized labor movement of the state will consider
the resolutions in an all day session
Thursday and adjourn Friday, following the selection of officers.Asserting that the enactment of the Volstead law has failed to meet
the approval of the general public,
the prohibition resolution asks the state federation to endorse the action
of the American Federation of Labor
in favoring modification to permit the manufacture and sale of 2.75 percent beer. Efforts at enforcement have failed and an overwhelming majority favor modification, the resolution declares.Large open shop employers in the military training camp association dominate the policy of the citizens
military training camps, it is asserted
in another resolution and "does its best to see that the camps turn out scabs and strike breakers." By passing the resolution the state federation would condemn the purpose and function of the camps, and express opposition to any move on the part of employers to "organically connect
the American Federation of Labor
with the war department to further
aid the bloody plans of the imperialists or to in any way help in the recruiting of the young workers expected to serve as cannon fodder in the next war."DAM ON DES MOINES RIVER IS APPROVEDWashington, D. C.—(AP)—Army engineers Wednesday approved erection of a dam across the Des Moines River near Des Moines, Iowa, upon application of the Iowa Power Light company.

Sitting Pretty

"Sitting in the driver's seat"
is a synonym for a situation
where one has the advantageous
position.This being the case, the man who does the employing for The Lithien Grain Company
surely was "sitting in the driver's seat" when it came to hiring
a driver for their truck—
after he had placed an ad in the classified section of The Post-Crescent.After the ad appeared, this gentleman had the advantage of selecting his man from seventy applicants—and thus was able to hire a very good man.A "Help Wanted" ad will get

APPROVE PARK BONDS

ADOPT ISSUE
BY MAJORITY
OF 176 VOTESFavorable Vote in Third Ward
Decides Issue in Close ReferendumHelped along by a majority of almost 6 to 1 in the Third ward, the Pierce park $50,000 bond issue was approved by a majority of 176 votes in the special election on Tuesday. Less than 1,700 votes were cast. The vote was: For the bond issue, 934; opposed, 758. The bonds were approved in the First, Third and Fifth wards. In the Second Ward the majority opposed was only 1 vote.While no announcement has been made by the park board, it is expected that bids for improvement of Pierce park according to the board's plans and specifications will be sought
in the near future and construction
will be started this fall.

EIGHT VOTE

The vote was the lightest at any
election in Appleton in recent years,
only 1,692 persons going to the polls.
It is estimated that the special election cost about 53 cents a vote. The heaviest vote was cast in the Third ward while the lightest was in the Second ward.The Third ward polled 554 votes for the park bonds while 85 were opposed.
And in the Fourth ward, where most of opposition was seated, polled 222 votes opposed to the bonds and only 29 in favor. The first precinct of that ward returned only 5 votes for the bond issue and 30 opposed.

VOTED DOWN

Agitation for improvement of Pierce
park was started more than three years ago and the park board secured
plans for making the tract useful and beautiful. The original plan was to have the park board issue bonds but this procedure was found to be contrary to law and the council was ordered to provide the money.The first time the bond issue was put to a vote it was defeated but at a subsequent meeting of the council
the previous action was reconsidered
and the council voted to issue the $50,000 bonds. Shortly after petitions for a referendum were secured and a special election was ordered. Only about 100 more persons voted against the bond issue than had signed the petition for a special election.Much of the opposition to the bond issue was based on construction of a dance pavilion. This pavilion was not contemplated in the park board's original plan but members of the council favored it.

PURDUE PROFESSOR IS

VICTIM OF HEAT WAVE

Racine—(AP)—Prof C. W. Smith of Purdue University, LaFayette, Ind., died here late Tuesday as the result of injuries received when he was overcome by the heat while a guest on the More farm near here. Professor Smith was assisting with the painting
of the farmhouse and fell from a ladder, striking his head on the concrete walk.Wednesday the news of his death
will be broadcast from one of the Chicago radio stations in an effort to locate his sister, Mrs. Charles H.
Baker, of Los Angeles, Calif.CONTINUED FARM
ACTION IS SEENFess Predicts Congress Will Strengthen Action Already TakenPaul Smith, N. Y.—(AP)—Predicting that there would be a move in the next congress to strengthen what already has been done by the administration for farm relief, Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio, left White Pine camp Wednesday after a visit with President Coolidge, asserting that this would not be along uneconomic
lines or in the direction of price fixing.Emphasizing that he had not discussed farm relief with Mr. Coolidge during his visit of 24 hours, the Ohio
senator, who was an outstanding supporter of the administration's agricultural program in the recent congress, declared the movement to strengthen the steps already taken
would be along economic lines with special attention to cooperative marketing and then only in ways that experience with the present legislation demonstrated to be wise.OUTDOOR AIR IS

night of almost complete relaxation
in the bracing air of the Adirondacks
has so benefited President Coolidge
that some of his friends would not be surprised if he prolonged his vacation
until Labor day.If his good spirits serve as an indication of his enthusiasm for his vacation home at White Pine camp is increasing. Amateur photographers
who have waited for him on his appearances at the executive office here
have been rewarded by the opportunity to make many snapshots, and on several occasions he has stood patiently while a score of guests at this resort, most of the women, clicked their shutters. The climate here is as much the same as that of his own Vermont hills, but the fishing is better than in the streams and lakes of his native state.Three Survivors Of Last Man's Club Attend BanquetMilwaukee, Minn.—(AP)—Three civil war veterans banquet here Wednesday
to keep covenant with the dead—the only survivors of the Last Man's club
of 37 veterans formed 42 years ago on the anniversary of the first battle of Bull Run in which they all fought.On the center of the banquet table
was placed the traditional bottle of Burgundy, presented to the club 41
years ago, which the last two will quaff as a toast to their departed comrades. The prized bottle was brought from a bank vault to the banquet hall.
Another draped chair was added to the group of 23 which were at the table last year. During the past year
Emil Graf of St. Cloud, Fla., a member, was called from the ranks, as the others, by death. For many years he had been ill and unable to attend, but his letters had been a treasured element of the meetings. P. O. Hall, 87 years old, of Atwater, Minn., president of the club by virtue of his senioritywas the guest of honor. The club has no more.The Burgundy was given the club
for the last man, but the survivors
last year, unwilling to face the ordeal
of a solitary toast, amended the ritual
so that two shall share it. When they are gone the club will be no more.The club was organized in 1884 by three men who fought at Bull Run.

IN TEXAS

Milwaukee—(AP)—A toll of seven victims were taken by the heat wave
which has engulfed Wisconsin for the past two days and Tuesday sent the temperature to 96 here—a high record
for the season.Temperatures over the entire state were reported above 90. John Radke, 42, laborer and Mrs. Wanda Hohnselt, 58, died of heat here Tuesday.
Five other victims were drowned
while seeking relief in the rivers and lakes of the state.Isabel Henning, 7, daughter of Wil-ham R. Henning, drowned in the Chippewa River at Eau Claire. Lake Winnebago claimed Peter Comme, 17, at Fond du Lac. Frank Garrow, 81, was drowned in the Mitchell River near Two Rivers. Harry Pearson, 15, Chicago, drowned in Chequamegon Bay
near the Washington tourist camp.
Helen Pfeiffer, Aurora, Ill., drowned
in Delavan Lake.Relief has been promised by the weatherman who tells of an approaching storm from the northwest which will probably strike the state sometime Wednesday afternoon or night,
bringing cooling rain and wind.Damaging several barns and factories
to the extent of approximately $20,000, a windstorm swept through Stanley early Wednesday robbing the city of electric light service.Several roofs were blown off, four brick kilns destroyed and a quarter of a million fresh bricks spoiled. More than a dozen barns and silos were damaged.

RAIN ON WAY

Chicago—(AP)—Close behind a heat wave which in the last few days has caused more than two score deaths and set up many new temperature records
thunder clouds were boiling eastward
and southward Wednesday from the northwest, bringing relief for sweltering millions. The rains began falling Tuesday.Leaving in its wake fatalities and blistered crops, the damage to which has not yet been accurately reckoned,
the wave has been broken in the northern great plains region and is gradually disappearing over the upper Mississippi valley. Warmer weather was forecast for the east, but with a prospect of scattered rains.Most of the interior states suffered Tuesday. Three persons died in the northwest, and deaths in Chicago
brought the total for two days here to more than 20. Many lives have been lost at bathing beaches, whither families were driven in search of comfort.
Seven drownings were recorded in New England, two in New Jersey and others throughout the country.While New York enjoyed the comparative comfort of 84 degrees Tuesday, Boston was baking at 90 degrees
and Chicago wilted under the hottest weather of the summer. The temperature of 95 was the highest registered on July 20 since 1901. Meanwhile the index of relief was seen in Montana,
where rains sent the mercury down to 20 degrees below normal.

ahead was the hope held out to New Yorkers Wednesday as they wilted before the wave of humid heat sweeping

Appleton Men In Bitterest Battle Of War Eight Years Ago This Week

BY J. R. VANCE

When a determined force of Americans stopped the German march on Paris in June, 1918, the French were near the end of their resources. Yet all knew that because of the German superiority in manpower more attacks were to come.

In order to win the war before the allied blockade starved their people into submission and the influx of American troops gave the allies superiority of numbers, the German high command planned three gigantic battles for the summer of 1918. The first, at Champagne, was to smash the French; the second, in Flanders, to cripple the English; and the third, the capture of Paris and Amiens, to crush the two weakened adversaries and force them to accept a German peace.

While waiting for the German attack, General Foch ordered the allied armies to perfect their defenses and to prepare offensives against sensitive spots in the German line. One of these was southwest of Soissons, a scant six miles from the front and the bottle neck of the line of supply for the Marne salient.

Probing by the German offensives of March and May, the French decided to abandon voluntarily, at the start of the next attack, the belt of territory occupied by their first position, on which the Germans normally concentrated their artillery fire. The defense would escape this destructive fire, while the Germans themselves would suffer severely from the allied artillery fire directed on the abandoned area.

Gave Up Territory
At the same time, every energy was being strained to pierce the German intentions. By July 6 it was ascertained that the Germans planned to capture Reims about the middle of July. A gigantic double development, extending on the west, to the vicinity of Chateau Thierry, and on the east almost to the Argonne forest. Meanwhile American troops, pouring into France at the rate of 250,000 a month, now numbered over a million. These reinforcements, together with a full knowledge of the enemy plans, enabled General Foch to prepare a great counter-attack directed at Soissons, to eliminate the Marne salient. He set it for July 18 in order to allow the Germans to become thoroughly committed to their own battle.

Prisoners captured 8 p. m. July 11, disclosed that the German artillery preparation would commence at 12:30 a. m. July 15. But the French were just one jump ahead. At 11:45 p. m. July 14 they opened a terrific fire, with the entire allied artillery, on the Germans massed in their advanced positions. Twenty-five minutes later some 8,000 enemy guns replied. The fire was the fiercest of the great artillery concentration of all time, could be seen in Paris more than 70 miles distant.

A tremendous Attack
At daybreak 27 German divisions attacked 18 allied divisions. East of Reims General Gouraud's Fourth army decisively stopped them. West of Reims, however, the attack made headway up the Marne valley and south of that river, where only the American Third division held its positions. This German success caused General Petain to order a delay in the allied counter-attack scheduled for July 18. But Foch promptly countermanded this order.

Notwithstanding, small German gains during the next two days, the German high command, on July 17, realized that the attack had completely failed. Therefore it was when it had turned its attention to the attack against the English, that General Foch's great counter blow struck the enemy.

Fourteen French and four American divisions were hurled against 11 German divisions and quickly destroyed them.

The allies were at the very gates of Soissons before the Germans recovered from their surprise. By noon, July 18, the advance of General Mangin's Tenth, and General Degoutte's Sixth armies had sealed the fate of the Marne salient.

The ensuing two weeks saw some of the hardest fighting and most magnificent staff work on record, as the German high command endeavored to extricate the half million or more men from the jaws of the powerful vice that were slowly and surely closing on them.

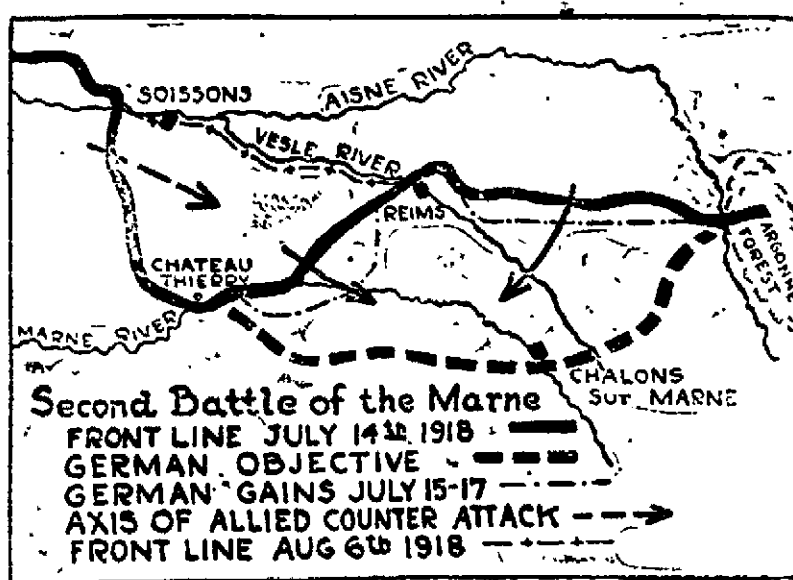

Closing the Salient
By continually strengthening the critical front southwest of Soissons, it was possible to contract gradually the great arc of the salient with the result that by August 4 all surviving troops were safely in the rear of the barrier formed by the Aisne and Vesle rivers.

But this successful withdrawal had been disastrous, not because of the heavy loss in men, guns and material, but because the fast attrition of German reserves had robbed that nation of the power for initiative.

The American 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 25th, 28th, 32nd and 42nd divisions had signally distinguished themselves in this onslaught.

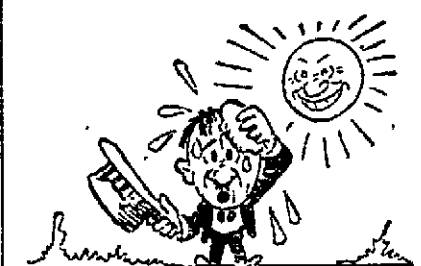

Under the driving genius of General Foch the successful advance of July 18 marked the start of the Allied march to final victory.

Mercury Hits 98 For Hottest Day Of Season

"Phew! It's hot," grudgingly admitted "The Old Timer" as the mercury in the official thermometer at Schlafer Hardware Co. store climbed to 98 degrees.

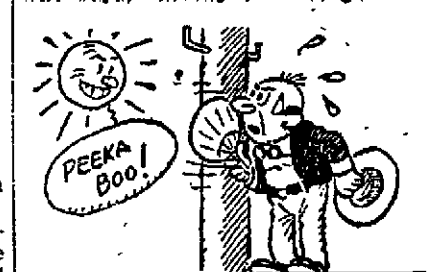

rees at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon to set this year's highest mark. "The Old Timer" refused to comment on prediction of rain, otherwise than to say "Ask your weatherman." The promised and much looked for rain which was due here Tuesday afternoon or night, according to the official prophet, failed to arrive and as a result Appleton is suffering from one of the hottest "spells" of the season.

The thermometer set a new record Wednesday morning by starting the day's journey at 77. At 9:30 it had already touched 90 degrees and at 10:30 it had risen one point. At noon the temperature was 93, which was a little lower than the noon reading Tuesday, which was 95.

Unofficial reports from various parts of the city gave readings from 85 to 102. Appleton people flocked to the lakes Tuesday and Wednesday to escape the heat and reports from the various bathing beaches and from people living along the lakes indicated that thousands took refuge from the heat in the cool waters of Lake Winnebago and the Fox river.

Thursday preceded by thunderstorms and cooler. "The Old Timer" refused to "predict" although he said "If this warm weather does stay, watch out for a terrible electric storm."

A special meeting of the Outagamie-co Highway committee was held Wednesday forenoon at the courthouse to discuss the proposed county road south of the village of Dale. After the meeting the committee went out to view the proposed road, which will connect state trunk highways 26 and 95, the latter in Winnebago-co.

Bids also will be called for within a week or two for the proposed new bridge at the foot of the Little Chute hill. A survey has been completed this week to eliminate the sharp curve at the foot of the hill, and the bridge will be arranged accordingly. A. G. Brusewitz, highway commissioner, stated Wednesday morning. The new bridge will be 24 feet wide, and will have a span of 40 feet. Specifications call for a concrete structure.

WETTENGEL DISCUSSES ROTARY CLASSIFICATION

Classification in Rotary was discussed by George Wettengel in a talk before the Rotary at the weekly meeting Tuesday noon at Hotel Northern. Mr. Wettengel was a delegate of the local club to the International Rotary convention at Denver in June when this problem was discussed.

There are seven major classifications and a number of minor classifications under each major class, according to Mr. Wettengel. He told members here that they should be careful in deciding the status of each class and that caution should be used in choosing the right man to represent each classification. Only one representative of each classification is permitted to become a member of a Rotary club.

Mr. Wettengel said that the National Rotary board was making revisions in the minor classifications.

CAREER OF TEXAS PASTOR HAS BEEN ONE LONG FIGHT

Culminates in Shooting of Wealthy Texan After Quarrel in Parsonage

By NEA Service.
Fort Worth, Texas—You may say what you will about the Rev. Dr. J. Frank Norris, the southwest's most famous evangelist. But you must admit that he isn't afraid of a fight.

Just now Dr. Norris is at liberty on $10,000 bond for shooting and killing one D. E. Chipps, a wealthy man who had called at his ministerial study to remonstrate with the pastor for the latter's attacks on Chipps' close friend, Mayor H. C. Maccham.

The three bullets that Dr. Norris sent into Chipps' body after Chipps, according to the pastor, had threatened to kill him, marked the climax of an active career that has been one long fight from the very beginning.

SON OF A DRUNKARD
Born in Alabama, the son of a drunken father whom Norris, as a boy, often had to pilot home from the saloons, Dr. Norris has been a Texas since the age of 12.

As a young man he stopped three bullets from cattle rustlers' guns while range riding. Then, quitting the range to prepare for the ministry at Baylor university and the Southern Baptist university, he plunged into an active life of exhortation and combat.

At his first pastorate, the McKinney Avenue Baptist church at Dallas, Dr. Norris inaugurated a war on race tracks that finally resulted in a state law providing a penitentiary sentence for betting on races. This was after a woman in his congregation had told him how her son had come to ruin through gambling on the horses.

It was in 1909 that Dr. Norris was called to his present church, the First Baptist church of Fort Worth. So fiery and unsparring were his pulpit denunciations of what he considered the shortcomings of some of his parishioners that the congregation was split wide open, and a struggle began that culminated in the destruction of the church by fire.

Dr. Norris was indicted for arson, but gained acquittal, and renewed his fight. At one time a group of citizens called on him and gave him ten days to leave the city, but he barricaded himself in his home, got a sawed-off shot gun, and defied them. A little later a gangster shot at him as he sat in his study, the bullet burying itself in the wall close to his head. Again, a friend struck a revolver from the hand of an assailant just in time to save Dr. Norris' life.

After a few years of such tempestuous combat Dr. Norris found himself firmly established. His congregation, with more than 7,000 members became one of the largest, if not the largest, in the world. A new church was built, its value estimated at upwards of a million dollars.

A militant Fundamentalist, Dr. Norris is credited with having caused the expulsion of more than a half dozen teachers from various state institutions because they were too fond of the theory of evolution. Flappers, the dance and cigarettes are other targets of his wrath, and he maintains a never-ceasing fire on them.

"HIGH POWERED" SALES TALK NOT BEST BUSINESS

Let Customer Buy Is Business Expert's Advice to Merchants

"Let the customer buy when he comes into your store," was one of the maxims set forth by W. H. Farley of Dayton, Ohio, a representative of the Merchant's Service Bureau of the National Cash Register Co., who spoke at the Appleton Vocational school. Because the hot weather only about a score of merchants or members of their sales force were present.

High pressure salesmanship, which in many cases almost compels the customer to buy articles he does not need, merely because of the "high power" talk of the clerk, usually impels the customer to avoid the clerk the next time he enters the store, if he returns at all to the establishment. Mr. Farley pointed out.

Where a clerk lets the customers trade with him, without browbeating the buyer into purchasing things he does not want, he is adding to the good-will of the store, the greatest asset on earth, Mr. Farley said.

HUMAN ELEMENT
In the first case the salesman adds to the amount of the individual

sale, but even this temporary advantage is offset because the less officious clerk will usually wait on a larger number of customers during the same time, the speaker declared.

The human element is most important in any trade, Mr. Farley said. It usually consists of the customer, the clerk and the merchant. Of these the customer and the clerk are most important. Supervision is therefore needed by the merchant to see that the transactions between the two are satisfactory.

Merchants should make it their aim to find out not how cheaply they can buy the services of their sales forces, but how much they can afford to pay, the speaker maintained. In this way the turnover of help may be decreased and efficiency promoted. At the same time a good salary will add to the loyalty of the clerk, and cause him to value his position. Mr. Farley pointed out that percentages should be paid the salesman on the basis of total store sales, rather than on individual sales, thus promoting cooperation rather than dissension among the sales force.

Mr. Farley advocated that a short time each week be devoted to a school for clerks in each store. He suggested that in these schools the following should be discussed: Salesmanship, reasons for and value of increasing the average sale, how to sell associate and seasonable items, value of customers, and the general store policy. He also suggested that the merchant push special items, such as the clerk be rewarded for increasing the average sale and reducing the costs per customer, and that the merchant encourage cooperation between his employees.

sale, but even this temporary advantage is offset because the less officious clerk will usually wait on a larger number of customers during the same time, the speaker declared.

The human element is most important in any trade, Mr. Farley said. It usually consists of the customer, the clerk and the merchant. Of these the customer and the clerk are most important. Supervision is therefore needed by the merchant to see that the transactions between the two are satisfactory.

Merchants should make it their aim to find out not how cheaply they can buy the services of their sales forces, but how much they can afford to pay, the speaker maintained. In this way the turnover of help may be decreased and efficiency promoted. At the same time a good salary will add to the loyalty of the clerk, and cause him to value his position. Mr. Farley pointed out that percentages should be paid the salesman on the basis of total store sales, rather than on individual sales, thus promoting cooperation rather than dissension among the sales force.

Mr. Farley advocated that a short time each week be devoted to a school for clerks in each store. He suggested that in these schools the following should be discussed: Salesmanship, reasons for and value of increasing the average sale, how to sell associate and seasonable items, value of customers, and the general store policy. He also suggested that the merchant push special items, such as the clerk be rewarded for increasing the average sale and reducing the costs per customer, and that the merchant encourage cooperation between his employees.

VOLLEYBALLERS WIN
GAME FROM MULFORDS

Kaukauna—Another hard fought, eight inning soft ball game was played Tuesday night on the municipal playground between the Volleyballers and the Mulford Specials, the former triumphing 10 to 9. The game was close and exciting all the way. Both teams scored in the first inning and the score remained this way until the third when the Volleyballers grabbed two while the Specials were getting only one. The fourth was a hectic inning for both squads, the Volleyballers getting four runs and Mulford 5 to tie the score again at 7 all. Two Volleyballers legged it home when Anderson on third muffed one and another run came home when Crowe wrestled with a high fly in right field. Youngers walked a couple to help things along. Anderson redeemed himself in the same inning by starting off a double play and by clouting out a home run, scoring two runners ahead of him. Nobody scored in the fifth and both teams brought one home in the sixth. The game went into the overtime period tied at 8 all. The Volleyballers scored two in the final frame and a Mulford rally was nipped in the bud when Engshold's grabbed a pop fly for the final out.

Property

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—If Friday is unlucky for some, surely Tuesday is the unlucky day for J. Wainer and sons. Above the placard which marks their place of business on West Water-st. is one word, 'Junk'. But J. Wainer and sons received callers early Tuesday afternoon who asked not to see junk but to see what store of illegal liquor could be found about the place. No one was present to record the conversation, but facts are facts. The three strangers were state prohibition officers and they took them from the Wainer place, a sizable load of bottled goods which was considered to be of the right consistency to be called 'wet'. They also took Louis Wainer, and all departed for Waupaca, the county seat. This is the second raid, the first having failed to uncover liquor.

"Everywhere I went I heard someone talking about Dreco and how much good it did them, until I made up my mind to try it too," declared Mr. Raymond W. Fuller of 321 So. Burdick St., Kalamazoo, Mich.

Mr. Raymond W. Fuller

"After every meal my stomach would turn sour and I'd fill up with gas. Sometimes I'd become nauseated and have spitting headaches. It was so nervous that I could not sleep much but would get up feeling more tired than when I went to bed the night before, and instead of going out to work feeling full of energy I felt all dragged out."

"Three bottles of Dreco made a big change in all for now I hop out of bed feeling rested and refreshed. I sit down to the table with a good appetite and enjoy everything and never suffer afterward. I haven't had a headache lately and my bowels now act regularly. Dreco is everything that I heard people say about it and I now join them in praising it."

Mr. W. V. Martin, the well-known expert from the Dreco Laboratories now at Schultz Bros. downtown drug-store, is telling scores of people every day how to take Dreco for best results. Go to see him. His advice is free.

The remainder of the week will be devoted to a general cleanup and by Aug. 1 the traffic should pass over that way again. "Lively Heat"
from common kerosene

RED STAR
Detroit Vapor
OIL STOVE

There are two kinds of heat. One is the vigorous "Lively Heat" found above a bed of red hot coals or above a gas or electric burner. The other is the lazy, languid, lifeless heat, such as is found above the flame of a tallow candle.

The success of the Red Star Oil Stove is due to a patented burner which produces from ordinary kerosene or gasoline the same intense "Lively Heat" as that produced by a bed of red hot coals. Quickly makes an oven piping hot. Bakes a fluffy, light cake. Searns a juicy roast. Broils and fries to perfection. Beautiful, sturdy, sanitary, easily cleaned. Starts cooking the instant burner is lighted. Means a cool kitchen in summer. Simple and easy to operate. No special piping or expansion tank required.

Convenient terms gladly arranged
Red Stars cost no more, size for size, than any good oil stove. Convenient terms make them easy to buy. Ask for a demonstration.

MISS MASON PLAYS IN EMOTIONAL ROLE
A large audience that saw Shirley Mason in her latest starring picture, "Scandal Proof," at the New Bijou Theatre, where it opened for a two day run, witnessed one of the finest performances it has been the pleasure of this little star to give in her long career.

With a highly emotional role, Miss Mason did herself credit and, with the assistance of a capable cast, presented some of the most potent drama that has been seen on local screens.

The story of "Scandal Proof," an original one by Charles Kenyon, is that of a girl who, falsely accused of murder, clears herself with the aid of a man whose love she wins.

Supporting Miss Mason are John Roche, well known screen leading man; Freeman Wood, as the villain; Hazel Howell, Frances Raymond, Ruth King, Edward Martindell, Joseph Steiker, Billy Fay and Clarissa Selwynne. The picture was directed by Edmund Mortimer. Charles Kenyon, the author, prepared the scenario.

"Satan in Sables," the Warner Bros. Classic of the Screen at the Elite Theatre on Thursday and Friday with Lowell Sherman in the stellar role, is the story of a prodigal nobleman's regeneration through love and tragedy. Prince Michael Lyev Tveredoff, of Russia and of Paris, has only one redeeming characteristic, his love for his younger brother Paul. When, in a moment of good resolutions, Michael dismisses his lovely mistress, the jealous beauty determines to make Paul love her and so punish Michael. The suffering of Michael when his disillusioned brother races madly to death, is assuaged by the love of Colette, a gay gamine, and he learns that life holds more than idle pleasures and petty passions. James Flood directed this picture version of Bradley King's story.

VINCENT CARR AND HIS GANG IN MADRID THIS WEEK

In addition a dancing team has been secured to work in conjunction with the band offering numerous routines, including the Apache dance, Spanish, and Adagio dances. Both are young and good looking and have played extended engagements in Chicago's night club circle.

The feature photoplay will be "Volcano."

canoe," a different vehicle than Bebe Daniels has given us for some time, her work being highly dramatic. Ricardo Cortez and Wallace Beery play in the supporting cast. One of the unusually thrilling scenes is caused by the ruption of the Volcano in the shadow of which most of the action takes place. KEEP YOUR SCALP Clean and Healthy WITH CUTICURA

YOUR QUESTION AND ITS ANSWER

QUESTION—Is Chiropractic good for all diseases?

ANSWER—Chiropractic is good for all diseases and the coming profession. It is the best method of relieving disease yet known to man. It proclaims to the world that disease and its opposite, health, are conditions of organs, not object or concrete things, and that the power which created man also placed within him, the mechanism which, if kept in perfect adjustment, would carry him from the cradle to the grave in uninterrupted ease and comfort.

QUESTION—I have been more or less sick since an attack of the "flu." Please tell me if you can help me and how long will it take to get well under your care?

ANSWER—Time required for complete restoration to health depends upon many things, such as general vitality, duration, severity and nature of illness, so that it is impossible to give a definite estimate. The important question is, can you get well? If you find a way to do so the matter of time should not be so important. Assume it required a whole year, the value of health, by far, is worth more than the year's attention.

Prompted by a desire to give the public a chance to be correctly informed about Chiropractic, I have adopted a policy of making no charge for consultation and invite you to call for a friendly talk about my science and its application to your ailment.

Careful Drivers

The following letter gives an intimate picture of the working out of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) campaign for greater safety, and a point of view not often considered.

Manager, Standard Oil Co.,
Wichita, Kansas.

Dear Sir:

I have been fighting the railroad battle for 30 years—as fireman and engineer. Am now an engineer on the Santa Fe, running between Newton and Arkansas City. I take this means of letting the management of the Standard Oil Company know how much I appreciate the consideration your truck drivers give a man running an engine. It is such a relief to see your men stop a safe distance from the tracks and give us a highball, which seemingly is a small thing to do yet means so much to us.

I thank you.

Yours truly,

H. G. Carson.

This letter presents a peculiarly interesting point of view on the question of traffic safety—that of the train man who is often forced to play an unwilling part in tragic motoring accidents.

The man who drives an engine over a prescribed pathway, according to prescribed schedule, must often share in the disaster caused by carelessness of a motorist who drives according to his own time and pleasure.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been unusually successful in preventing such carelessness among its drivers, by its extensive and intensive safety campaign.

All Standard Oil Company (Indiana) drivers are taught to recognize the ever-present dangers of motor traffic. They are taught to respect the rights of others.

A Standard Oil Company (Indiana) driver does not "take a chance" at a railroad crossing. He knows that the oncoming train has right of way. He knows that it is his duty to respect that right and to consider the other fellow. What this consideration means to the engineer of the train is shown in the above letter of appreciation.

Extra caution at railroad crossings is a part of the program of extra carelessness that all Standard Oil Company (Indiana) drivers rigidly follow.

They do more than obey traffic regulations to the letter, because they share the purpose for which the regulations were made—to prevent the deaths of innocent people—and they share the spirit of human sympathy and consideration which prompted their making.

This spirit is to be expected of the loyal men of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) organization. They have learned to consider the rights, convenience, and safety of the other fellow first, as a working business principle, every day of the year.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) was created to serve the people of the Middle West. Its safety campaign is but an extension of this service which is resulting in a larger realization of its high purpose.

It was voted that the president, L. O. Wiseman, appoint a committee of county bankers which is to work out details after interviewing bank officers of the county.

ARM VIGILANTES
It is planned to appoint a number of vigilantes in each village or city. These will be armed and will be commissioned as deputy sheriffs. They will work under the supervision of the protective association if the plan is put into effect. Arms and ammunition will be paid for by the county bankers.

A. M. DeVoursney, manager of the protective department of the Wisconsin Bankers association, addressed the 35 members of the county association present Tuesday evening. He explained the working of the system, and its necessity in view of the activities of bank bandits. The action toward the establishment of a vigilante force was taken after his address.

Although Sheriff Peter Schwartz had been invited to attend the meeting, he was not present on Tuesday evening. Several days ago he stated that he would not deputize members of such a force until he had made full investigation and was satisfied that it is necessary.

Twenty-two Wisconsin counties have completed organization of, or are now organizing, vigilante bodies under the supervision of the protective department of the Wisconsin Bankers association, and at the direction of the sheriffs of the various counties.

Wisconsin counties which are either partially or completely organized, according to a statement of Mr. DeVoursney last week in Milwaukee, are: Ashland, Bayfield, Calumet, Columbia, Dane, Dodge, Green, Iron, Jefferson, Kenosha, LaCrosse, Lafayette, Marquette, Monroe, Ozaukee, Racine, Sheboygan, Trempealeau, Walworth, Washington, and Waukegan.

Twenty-eight cities are protected by the vigilante organizations of the counties. In all these counties, and cities the "dead or alive" rewards for bandits are in effect, according to DeVoursney.

Buy A HOLLAND FURNACE

Perhaps you know a great deal about the HOLLAND FURNACE—
But have you had experience with the HOLLAND HUMIDIFIER?

Let us show you why these are facts:

1. The smallest Holland, installed during the past year, evaporates from 3 to 15 gallons of water per day—depending upon atmospheric conditions.
2. The largest Holland will evaporate from 5 to 25 gallons per day.
3. No water pan on any furnace ever evaporated more than 2 gallons per day.

And water pans are a nuisance to keep filled—at that!

There is no such thing as healthful atmosphere or comfort without an abundance of Circulation and Humidity.

Neither one of these vital things are provided by Steam, Hot Water or the Vapor System.

The old "Hot Air" furnace is often worse.

It is because of ample Circulation and Humidity that the Holland leads the World for healthful and comfortable home-heating.

NEIGHBORS' WIVES

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JOHN and FAY MILBURN buy a home when their baby girl is born and the advertising agency in which John is partner and copy writer lands a new contract. Among their acquaintances are:

NOEL and VERA BOYD, whose marriage is strained; "MAD" PAT and MARIAN FORBES, who have three children and whose domestic life is unhappy because of Pat's roving tendencies. Previous chapters told how:

John was fascinated on meeting NELL ORME, of whom Pat Forbes hints that she is having trouble with her husband.

Fay took JUDITH, the baby, to visit her parents in Milwaukee, and during her absence John "ran around" a good deal, mostly in company with Pat Forbes. When Fay returned gossip had related some of his doings and sharp attacks between him and Fay followed, one of which drove him "out on a tear." Fay, learning he had been out again with other women, threatened to leave him if it was repeated.

John finds that people are talking about him, and NAT GRAHAM, his partner, charges his actions are damaging the firm's reputation. John, later by accident, meets Nell Orme at Vera Boyd's. He resolves not to go there again, realizing she is carrying him off his feet, but he does, and the day comes when he takes her madly in his arms.

Fay, learning of it, leaves, and takes the baby with her. John closes the house and takes an apartment. Later he hits HENRY BLODGETT, a banker, who had made a slighting reference about him. John is arrested for assault and battery and is defended by PAUL DAVIDSON, lawyer friend. He is acquitted.

Nat Graham leaves on a vacation and John is nearly crazy with work, so that when Vera Boyd again calls him up with an invitation to tea, he, knowing Nell Orme will be there, accepts.

(The names and situations in this story are fictitious.)

Vera was all curiosity when she met John Milburn at her door. She was "just dying" to know whether it was really true that Fay had left him.

He said, rather surlily, that he'd prefer not saying too much about it, that Fay, after all, was the one who ought to do the talking. But Vera—strange creature—was quite unabashed.

"You're so old-fashioned, really, with your notions about chivalry. John, come I'm simply crazy for some scandal."

He smiled faintly. "Really, Vera, it's hard for me to understand you." He glanced curiously around the room.

"Looking for Nell?" Vera smiled. "She'll be here soon."

He was half angry with her for saying that. It made him out such a crass philanderer. He told her that he really had no business coming and then asked her, quite frankly, "Do you really get a kick, Vera, out of seeing people do what they shouldn't?"

Vera sank gracefully into a chair and regarded him through half-closed eyes. With her black hair parted in the middle and drawn flat against her little head, she made an exotic picture. John thought, "If I was forced to confess that, in her way, Vera was really beautiful. Why, then, had he not seen an attraction in her, especially as he knew that Vera had been and still was, very likely, quite keen about him?"

"Are you listening to me?" she was saying. "Eh? Oh, yes."

She shook an admonitory finger. "Your thoughts were miles away. I was saying that I experience a vicarious pleasure in watching someone else arouse your interest."

He smiled faintly. "Perhaps I share something in common with other laboratory workers."

"What a thought!" he exclaimed. "Vera, I never know when you are telling the truth."

"And therefore never know when I lie," she finished for him. "That satisfies me."

"Tell me," Milburn said, "is it really true that you and Noel reached an understanding before you were married—that—that—his voice trailed awkwardly off."

"That neither was to hold the other accountable for his actions? But certainly."

"And it really makes no difference to you if Noel becomes interested in other women?"

"Why should it?" she smiled. "He is only my husband, isn't he?"

John frowned. "Maybe the theory is the only sensible one, but—"

"Of course. Can you really imagine me taking Noel to task if he chooses to spice up his dreary existence with a little affair?"

"Oh the devil, Vera! Why don't you take off your mask?"

She reached for a cigarette, shrugged. He said, "You know it's just a pose. You can't stifle jealousy."

"As far as I'm concerned, it doesn't exist," she said nothing more.

When Nell came in, the little lingering pressure of her fingers and the softness in her eyes told him more eloquently than the brief words she spoke to him in a low tone, of her sympathy. Again John was left to wonder at Vera when, after a short time, she arose and left them.

Between him and Nell there now seemed to be an awkward constraint neither said much and once John asked, rather bluntly, whether she and Howard couldn't manage to patch up their differences—whatever they were. He was trying to solve the strange puzzle of the Ormes, as he had tried once before.

Nell listened to him quietly, then raised her hands in a gesture of futility and turned her eyes upward. "Howard and I can never be happy," she said, and she went on to hint of something terrible between them; hinted just enough to leave John burning with curiosity.

He left shortly afterward, and once behind the wheel of his car found himself thinking, "I'll be dog-goned if that isn't the most mysterious thing I ever heard of. Now what in the devil do you suppose it can be? What has she done? What has Howard done?"

He was not watching where he was driving and presently he realized with something of a shock, that he was in the neighborhood of his own house. His first reaction was to hurry away as fast as he could before he could catch even a glimpse of it. But he saw it. Why be childish about it? He'd be bound to look at it sometime, wouldn't he? He couldn't simply forget it—even though it was now only a place of painful memories.

His key clicked in the lock with a strange stark sound, and once inside he dropped, out of habit, into his favorite arm chair before the fireplace. His eyes took in the faint film of dust that had settled on some of the polished furniture; charred, cold-looking cigarette butts seemed to stare at him from the hearth.

John shook himself, rose and began to trail aimlessly through the house. The dining room—a small, cheery little room. What was it Fay had said when they had first gone through the house—that she preferred small ones, inasmuch as dining rooms were going out of style anyway? And the kitchen—the mammoth porcelain sink, its nickel faucets gleaming bravely. He turned quickly away and went upstairs, thinking to look for some shirts that he had forgotten to pack.

At the end of the hall was the nursery, and through its west window he caught sight of the descending orange sun. He felt suddenly forlorn; the day was done—just like his own happiness. He turned quickly away from the window and his foot stepped on something soft that emitted a faint squeak. He was startled, and looked down to see what it was. And then he was overcome with such a vast feeling of loneliness that a great sob escaped him.

The next day at the office he thought he detected some uneasiness in Miss Knisely's actions. The stenographer and girl of all work several times seemed to be on the point of saying something to him, but each time she hesitated, and the feeling "zoo" on him that she had something on her mind.

He was not long in doubt about it. At the close of the day Miss Knisely in a small, timid voice, told him she was resigning. The announcement caught him completely by surprise; he had never even imagined such a thing. Why, what would he do—especially with Nat Graham away?

"What's the trouble?" he asked. "Want more money?"

But it wasn't that, she told him. She thought she needed a rest.

"You'll give us two weeks' notice—until we can break someone else in?" She'd be glad to do that, she told him.

John asked several more questions. Was the work too hard for her? Did she think she needed some assistance? If she did, he'd be glad to take it up with Mr. Graham and see what could be done. He wanted to be perfectly fair with her. She had done a very satisfactory work, they'd grown so used to her he hardly knew what they'd do without her.

But the effect of all this was to embarrass Miss Knisely still more. No, she was not overworked. She merely thought she'd quit.

"Well," he said with a sigh, "I'm sorry. Hope you'll think it over and change your mind. I might as well be frank and tell you that competent secretaries are really hard to find."

And then one day later in the week Miss Knisely telephoned to say that she was sick and was unable to get down. The day Nat Graham came him. The thing was Judith's rubber doll. How well he remembered the day he had bought it for her! And how in different she had been to it at first, but later how much pleasure it had given her!

"Judith!" he cried. "Judith! Fay!" This terrible feeling was simply more than he could endure, and his eyes, as he gazed at the little toy, were wet.

With a great effort he pulled himself together and thrust the doll in his pocket. He would have to send it home to her, he decided—but on second thought he told himself no, he'd keep it for himself.

He closed the front door gently. What a terrible place this house had become, he was thinking as his feet plodded wearily down the front walk. Just across the street was the home of the Blodgetts, of hateful memory, and were his eyes deceiving him or was this really Mrs. Blodgett who had turned the corner and was swiftly approaching? Yes, it was she, and he saw her suddenly come to a stop, tilt her head indignantly at sight of him and then march briskly up the steps to her front door.

When he got back to his apartment that evening, he placed the little rubber doll in a dresser drawer, but first he held it in his hand and gazed at it for a long time.

The next day at the office he back he learned, through Briggs, that she had gone to work for Kelly and Jones.

"Well, can you beat that?" he complained bitterly to Graham. "Why didn't she say that they had offered her more money? We could have met it. It sounds to me like downright disloyalty. I had thought she was to be trusted completely."

Graham frowned, and, staring at the pencil in his fingers, said something vague about "not blaming her." Everywhere he went, it seemed, people were talking about Graham & Milburn and seemed to think they were going on the rocks.

It was like reopening an old wound. John, feeling bitter anger, stealing over him, was able to control himself and stare at his partner coldly and silently.

Another thing, Graham went on, another one of their important accounts seemed to be slipping. Somewhere, somehow, the firm had got a black eye.

And then John's anger flared. "Let 'em slip!" he cried, and when Graham shrugged his shoulders and turned surlily away, he flung after him, "Our clients get service, don't they?"

That was true, Nat admitted; nevertheless, it was not to be wondered at that people began to lose confidence in a business organization that was being eternally gossiped about.

"My fault again, eh?" John said irritably.

"Everyone," Nat said doggedly, "seems to know that your wife is going to divorce you."

Milburn was silent for a minute or two. Finally, "Look here, Nat," he said, "does it strike you that it's anybody else's business but my own and Fay's? This agency is paid to take care of other people's advertising. We don't pay them to take care of our lives for us. Now then, what are you going to do about replacing Miss Knisely?"

But Graham, an impatient exclamation escaping him, turned abruptly away and walked out of the room.

A STORY OF
A GIRL OF TODAY

CATASTROPHE

I thought I was going to faint. I knew that my bag had been there the minute before. Then I remembered that a particularly flashy man had stopped at my table as though to speak to me and I had turned my face away for fear that he would oblige me to make some sort of a demonstration before he could be persuaded to leave.

Practically I looked out the table and room, before I realized how silly it was, for I knew positively that the man had taken my bag.

Then it seemed to me that everything except despair had gone out of this world. I unbraided myself for doing such a foolish thing as drawing my money out of the bank, and then I forgot everything except the fact that I was in a strange town, penniless and alone.

Unsteadily, I got up from the table and made my way to the dressing room. I had grown panic-stricken at the thought that I had no place to lay my head that night, for I did not dare go back to the hotel and tomorrow morning have to tell them that I had not a cent in the world.

A feeling of nausea crept over me and I fell down in a chair. The dressing room attendant came up to me and said:

"What's the matter, dearie?"
Oh, how I hate that word "dearie." I disliked it before, but when I found my money was gone, it seemed as though I could not bear it.

Finally I managed to tell the woman that I had lost my money.

"Never mind," she said. "I'll give you a nickel to call your family on the telephone and then they can come after you."

I thanked her but found it impossible to make any explanations and with a great effort of will, I managed to rise and bathe my face in cold water.

While I was doing this, the attendant was called to the door and I heard her say:

"Yes, I think the young lady is in here. She says she's lost her money." My heart sank lower than ever at this. I realized it was the waiter and that I owed for my dinner and could not pay.

The attendant came back and said: "Your dessert is waiting, miss."

"I don't want any dessert," I answered wildly.

The woman looked at me suspiciously I thought and she said again: "Don't worry, dearie. I'll loan you the nickel to telephone your friends if you have lost your money."

Youngsters Hurt in Collision of Two Cars Near Little Chute

Two small sons of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Verhagen of Kaukauna were injured at 9:30 Sunday evening when the car in which the family was driving toward Kaukauna struck a roadster driven by J. Anderson of Little Chute at the second crossroad between Little Chute and Kaukauna.

The injured, Melvin, aged 4, and Eugene, aged 3.

The former suffered several cuts about the head, while the latter was bruised about the body. Mrs. Verhagen suffered a few minor injuries.

The oldest son was hurled through the windshield of his parent's car onto the running board of the roadster.

Both cars were slightly damaged. Anderson was alone in his machine while four persons were passengers in the Verhagen car. The roadster, which was headed toward Little Chute had stopped for an instant before attempting to turn off on a side road, witnesses declared. The driver evidently thought he could make the turn before the other car approached. It was said.

APPLETON DRIVER IS CROWDED OFF HIGHWAY

Edwin Bartz of Appleton suffered numerous cuts and bruises Sunday morning when his sedan was crowded off highway 27, west of Kenosha, by a large car which was reported to be traveling at a high rate of speed. The Bartz car was badly wrecked in a ditch at the side of the road. Mr. Bartz, the only occupant of his car, was taken to St. Mary hospital at Milwaukee. The other automobile did not stop after the accident.

One Jimmy Uehlings now serves baseball in the major leagues. Half measure scores published Wednesday show that "Uehlings" pitched for the Washington Senators. The former McKeesport semi-pro for three innings held Cleveland hitless and runless. Cleveland won 8 to 2 piling up seven runs on Morrell in the sixth inning.

Philadelphia lost twice to the Tigers 5-0 and 6-3. Rip Collins giving only five hits in the first game and Gibson and Daus only seven in the second.

The White Sox had two large innings and won easily from the Boston Red Sox, 13 to 2. Harris and Schalk of Chicago getting three hits each.

Although beaten by St. Louis, 7 to 6, the Yankees added half a game to their lead when Philadelphia lost two. Beall of the Aynks gave six bases on balls, hit two men and produced a wild pitch in 6-2-3 innings. Ruth hit his 28th homer with none on base in the third.

CARTER DEFENDS BIG GOLF TITLE

Match-Play in Western Amateur Meet Starts Wednesday at White Bear

White Bear Lake, Minn.—(AP)—Match play got under way Wednesday in the western amateur golf tournament, with Keefe Carter, of Oklahoma City, defending his championship title.

Two rounds in the championship flight, were set for the day, after qualifying rounds Monday and Tuesday had established Harrison R. "Jimmy" Johnston, of St. Paul, as medalist with a score of 141.

Wednesday's rounds are for 18 holes each, while the quarter finals on Thursday, the semi-finals on Friday and the final match on Saturday will be for 36 holes.

Carter topped the first day pairings with H. A. Fleeger, of Seattle, as his opponent, with fifteen other pairs scheduled to follow them at five minute intervals, starting at 9 a. m.

Fleeger, the veteran of the group of Pacific Northwest golfers participating in the tournament, seven of whom are in the championship flight, qualified with 151 and proved himself a dangerous opponent in match play.

Carter got into the flight without playing in the qualification as his title gives him the leadoff honor, but he went a practice round of 18 holes Tuesday in par and was reported "on" his game.

Johnston, who seemed assured of medalist honors after his brilliant 65 Monday, turned in a 73 Tuesday but still had a margin of four strokes over Denmore Shute, of Huntington, W. Va., who was second with 145. Other qualifying scores scaled to 156.

EDDIE MOORE OF BUGS TO BRAVES BY WAIVER

Pittsburgh—(AP)—The Boston Nations Tuesday obtained by waiver Eddie Moore, Pittsburgh second baseman, officials of the Pirates announced.

Moore, who left Tuesday with the Braves for Cincinnati, was fined $100 by the Pittsburgh management last week for alleged indifference playing against the New York Giants.

BREWERS ARE OUTHIT BUT BEAT TOLEDANS

Toledo, O.—Casey Stengel laughed right out loud when some of his stalwarts fell on Roy Sanders with considerable gusto in the first inning here Tuesday afternoon. Nine swifter chapters further on it was Sandy who was doing the laughing and Casey had aged a year and a day. The 5 to 2 score favored the Brewers and made first place safe for two more days at least.

SUNDAY GAMES

Little Chute at Oneda (rain).
Freedom at De Pere (rain).
Combined Locks 11, Wrightstown 2

Smacking-out ten solid hits which combined with seven errors gave them 11 scores, the surprise Combined Locks Specials pulled the Wrightstown crew off the top rung of the Intercounty League in the only loop game played Sunday. Not only did the Locks crew pull the Wrightstown nine from the top but they trounced the visitors royally to boot, ending the game on the long end of a 11-2 score.

Before the tilt Wrightstown had been tied for the top berth with Freedom, but the Locks win gave the Freedom crew a lone lead. The Locks crew, by trouncing the strong leaders, again proved the surprise of the loop and dangerous to perennial hopes of all leaders. After losing five straight tilts, the Specials came back and beat a first division squad two weeks ago for their first win and then took the second straight against Wrightstown by displaying more of the better brand of ball played since last season.

At the present rate, the winning of the three titles in a row will make the Specials dangerous contenders if the leaders hit a bad day. Stegeman, hurling for the winners, held Wrightstown well in hand allowing only four hits, fanning seven, and walking four. His hurling gave the winners a big edge and his mates erred but twice behind him. Klister made up for it in part by fanning 13 opponents. However, he hit one man and walked five while his mates fell to pieces to make seven errors. Each team scored in the opener but from there on it was easy for the Lockmen.

Freedom and Wrightstown, the top notch squads, clash in the most important battle next Sunday with the top notch at stake. Freedom is a slight favorite though the game will be played at Wrightstown. Combined Locks will have a chance to come out of the cellar and tie for fourth by winning its third straight game for the speedy Oneda Indians at Oneda.

The Kimberly lineup for Saturday will be the same as that which faced Fond du Lac last Sunday in the tenning battle at Kimberly. Vanderloog will probably be on the mound with Hartjes catching. Scheil at first; Cliff Courtney at second; Butch Thein at third and either Harry Lamore or Nig Verboten at short. In the outfield, Hank Thein, Cooks, Koll, Len Smith and Pocan probably will see action. The game will be called at 4:30 sharp so as to allow the employees of the mill who work Saturday afternoons a chance to see the game. Kohl's team on the field, and he has a nice working combination. Louie and Wilbert an outfielder on the team both play in the Lake Shore League with Sheboygan while Joe Bodura is playing Sunday ball with Kewaunee. Steen of Fond du Lac also is with the Kohl team, holding down the center field position on both the Kohl team and the Fond du Lac Fox River Valley aggregation.

HARDWARES TAKE BOTH ENDS OF DOUBLE BILL

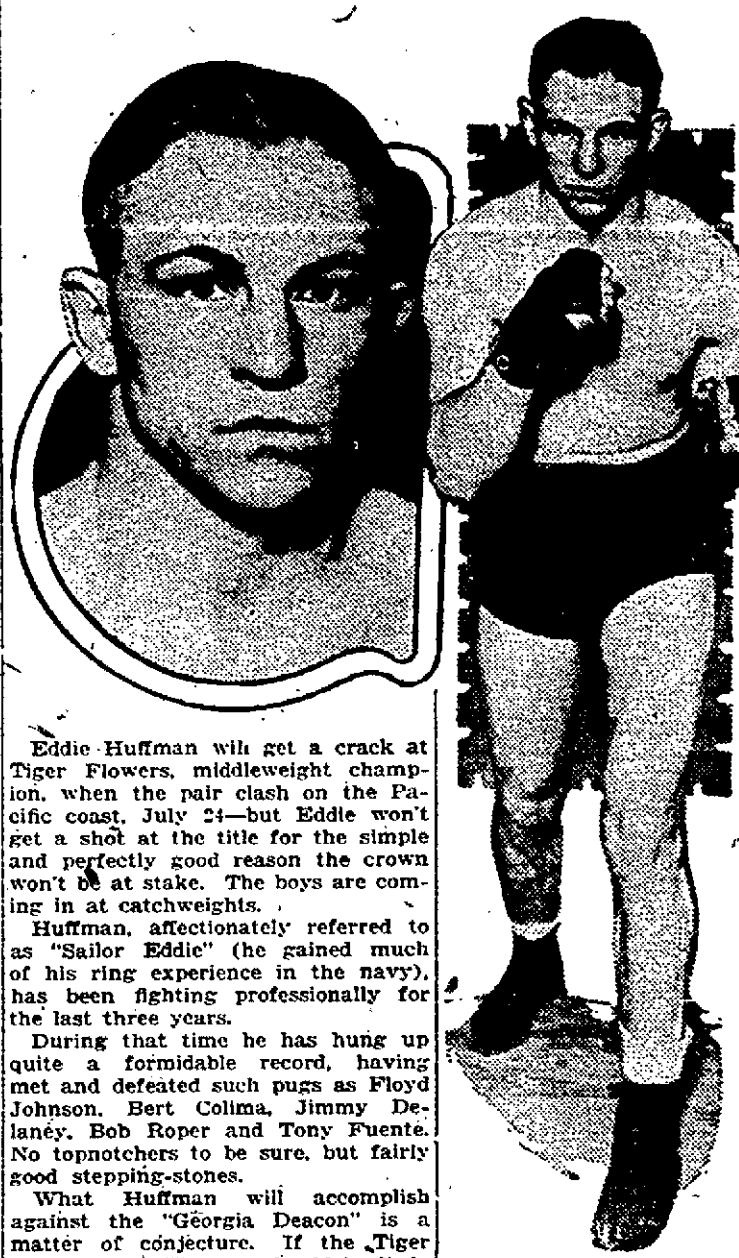

Kimberly—Taking both ends of a double-header from the Clubhouse Boosters Monday evening in the Kimberly Twilight Softball League, the Verhagen Hardwaremen showed the losing crew from fifth to sixth place in the loop standings, taking the fifth berth themselves. The games both went five frames, the Hardwaremen taking the first, 2-1, and the second, 2-0. One was a postponed tilt between the two squads.

For the winners Verhagen scored a run in each tilt and Verbeten scored once in the opener. One Schwankke, once in the second. LaBerge scored the only Booster run of the day. Judkins winning hurler, allowed only four hits in the two tilts, three in the opener and one in the second. Sandhoff, losing pitcher, allowed six in the first and three in the last for a nine total.

Cleveland, O.—Jimmy Finley, Louisville, defeated Floyd Hubert Cleveland, ten; Bill Leonard, Albany, N. Y., shaded Bill Showers, Chicago, six.

Dominick Petrone, New York, beat Benny Hall, St. Louis, ten.

HUFFMAN TO MEET FLOWERS

EDDIE HUFFMAN

Dave's Dots And Dashes

Pro basketball moguls already are making plans for a casing loop in this part of the state and indications are that the crack K-C Athletics, who "turned pro" after the state amateur meet last year and played in the sectional pro meet, will be a member, thus letting them out of amateur circles this year. The K-C men are well fitted for a job in the loop having won five titles last season including the state amateur and district pro.

They will receive more competition than they did in the district meet last year, however, as some of the best pro teams in the state are entered. These include Sheboygan and Two Rivers of the state pro loop of 1926, the Green Bay C. C. crew with added men, Plymouth and Lena. If the loop is made an eight-club affair, Fondy, which always puts out a strong team, and Menominee, Mich., will join.

One of the finest football schedules ever compiled by the Green Bay packers is carded for this year, including the eastern jaunt. The home fans are good enough to attract real fans from miles about as both the Chicago Bears and Cardinals play in the Bay city. It is the first time the Cards have made the northern trip and they are a stellar attraction wherever they appear. Although the date of the game, Oct. 10, is still three months away, the Packer management has already received requests for tickets for the game. It will probably draw the biggest crowd which ever witnessed a grid fray in this part of the state.

Marty and Boots Lamers, Red Cvil and Phillips, all prominently connected with the Kimberly valley loop club a few weeks ago have quit to play with the Combined Locks crew in the Intercounty loop. The Locks had lost five straight and Supt. Paul Smith decided to flash the S. O. S. call. As a result Kimberly is hard hit while the Locks now has the class of the two-county loop and has won its last two starts by scoring 24 and 11 runs over the loop leading squads.

Bruce Noel is the Green Bay jinx, though other clubs of the valley loop seem to have an even chance with him. He hurled a no-hit, no-run game against the Bays a few weeks ago and Sunday he beat the Green Sox again with giving them only four bingles. Any time he faces the Bays he looks good for a win.

Valley league attendance records were broken at Oshkosh on Sunday when over 2,000 spectators saw Green Bay take a 7 to 2 licking at the Fair grounds. It was "Boosters Day" in the Sawdust City and the merchants did their part in helping to pack 'em in at the big park.

It looks as if 'Jocko' Harris is doing pretty well with his Wayne Munn exhibition tour as the man-mountain and his associates showed before over 2,000 in Racine and a big crowd greeted them in Milwaukee Tuesday night. The touring grapplers are billed for several other appearances in Wisconsin including Appleton and Green Bay.

La Cosse, Green Bay's speed ball artist, is on the bench with a sore hurling arm. The slabster got his elbow bumped in an automobile crash and the injured member is not yielding to treatment very fast. Manager Clusman however, hopes to have him

WAYNE MUNN MAY ADDRESS LOCAL ORGANIZATIONS

Opponent for "Man Mountain" Not Selected but Five Stars Are Ready

Word has been received from Wayne (Big) Munn, who headlines the wrestling program at the Armory Friday night, that he has consented to give an address to an organization who wishes to hear him. If any club or group of boys wish to hear him arrangements will be made.

Plenty of interest is being manifested over the appearance of this famous athlete and dyed-in-the-wool loyalists of the American Legion are going to be on hand when the bell rings, for the noted Cornhusker is Legiondom's best athletic product as well as a man who gave his all to join the army when the war broke out.

More than 15,000 frenzied fans cheered themselves hoarse on Jan. 8 when Wayne "Big" Munn annexed the heavyweight championship of the world. Lewis claimed he was fouled. Munn's record during the last 18 months has been such that he has taken rank with Pavov Nurmi and Red Grange when it comes to drawing the crowds.

The promoters are still up in the air regarding Munn's opponent. Hill has not yet given any definite statement as to whether he can make the jump, but there will be five noted wrestlers on hand ready and eager to take on the big fellow, so it looks as though Munn will be in for a very busy evening.

At Racine where Munn and Plestina showed, many were turned away. His talk before the match was so well received that he was cheered and cheered. Besides the two big attractions another match is being arranged among two light-heavyweights.

There are so many applicants for the show that want a chance to try conclusions with the two stars, that it will be impossible to give a complete program until possibly the day of the match.

Another change has been made in the price of admission. It was at first decided to charge one straight price for everyone, making the price $1.00 plus tax, but it has been decided to charge 50 cents for the ladies.

YANKEE ROOK DOING WELL IN FIRST YEAR

This youngster, Tony Lazzeri, is getting to be quite an extra base hitter. Seldom does a day go by in which the former Pacific Coast star doesn't come through with a long wallop. He's certainly making a big success of his debut season.

Tony Lazzeri, Yank Rookie, Shines In Opening Season

"Push 'em up Tony!" That is the favorite expression of New York fandom at present. It closely rivals what has been the college yell of the Yankee supporters for years.

"Bust one Babe!" For Tony Lazzeri, playing his first year under the big tent, is already an established favorite in New York.

Without a doubt, Tony Lazzeri is one of the best looking young infielders to break into the American league in years. He is destined to be a star, a much-talked-about athlete. In fact, already is the subject of considerable gossip.

Lazzeri is colorful. He has an easy, graceful style in the field, is fast and at the bat takes a healthy cut at the ball that gets great distance when he connects.

Tony, however, is not strong on oratory. He is a tough guy to interview.

You play baseball with your head, hands and feet, not your mouth," is Tony's favorite expression when some scribe tries to get him to talk about himself.

While Tony is very appreciative of all the kinds words that have been said about him, he much prefers the newspaper men to draw on their own imagination for copy rather than talk about himself.

Lazzeri came to the Yankees as a shortstop. He looked rather awkward, a trifle out of place in the spring when shifted to second base. There was much skepticism as to whether he would deliver.

Since being assigned to second he has improved his play with each game, already looks the part of the finished ball player and is certain to be one of the best men that has ever played that position in the majors.

Recently he was shifted to shortstop when Mark Koenig slumped in his work. He has performed brilliantly at his old position.

That it pays to gamble in baseball is proved by the case of Lazzeri. When the Salt Lake club of the Pacific Coast league put a price of $75,000 on Lazzeri, New York was the only club interested.

The reason: Serious doubt as to Tony's ability to hit major league pitching. The case of Paul Strand, who cost Mack $100,000, only to "divvy" was fresh in the minds of the magnates.

The consensus of opinion was that the rarified air of Salt Lake was responsible for Strand's average. Since Lazzeri had won fame under the same conditions he was placed in Strand's class.

Last season Lazzeri hit .355 for Salt Lake, drove in the amazing total of 222 runs and set a home-run record with 60.

New York gave $50,000 and five players for Lazzeri, practically $75,000.

000, and he is worth every cent of it and then some.

And Lazzeri, by the way, assisted by Oscar Melillo of St. Louis, has aroused new interest in baseball among the fans of Italian blood.

Melillo is the recruit young time work, once he struck his stride, has done much to round out the St. Louis Browns, now playing pennant-winning baseball.

PAIR OF TEXAS PREPS SIGNED WITH MAJORS

Waxahachie, Tex.—Seldom do players in their high school days show sufficient promise to be signed by big league scouts for tryouts with major league clubs, but two members of the Waxahachie high school team will report to major league clubs this summer.

Paul Richards, star third baseman, and Audrey Adair, brilliant shortstop, are the lads. Richards has accepted terms with the Brooklyn Robins and Adair will play with the Chicago Cubs.

Waxahachie high has won the championship of Texas for the past seven years and these two stars have played an important part in annexing the title for the past three seasons. Both are 400 hitters in high school.

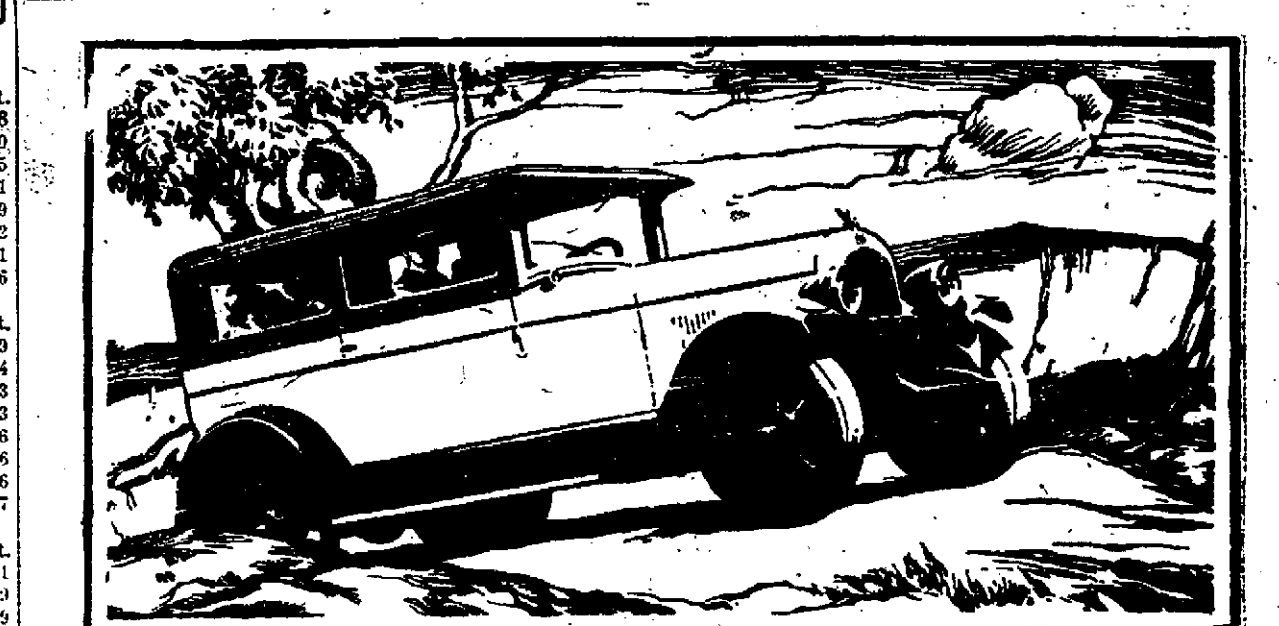

Richards was offered contracts by four major league clubs but preferred to play with the Robins.

HELPFUL HINTS TO GOLFING STARS

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH GOLFERS MAGAZINE, CHICAGO.

JOCK HUTCHISON—LET CLUBS DO IT

Don't be afraid to use the ground on all occasions after the ball is hit. Ninety per cent of the failures in golf come from trying to pick the ball off the ground. Of course, this can be overcome and one can get in the habit of taking too much turf but it is a fault easily corrected.

Beginners err mostly with their irons in attempting to loft the ball with a movement of the hands or the body instead of letting the club do it. The clubs they mostly fail with are the mid-iron and the mashie, and there are no two clubs in the golfing kit that are easier to play.

Here is the secret of success with both of these clubs. Hit the ball crisp and send the club-head straight on after the ball, letting it run along the ground as far as the hands and arms will permit.

If you are afflicted with the topping habit, try to drive the ball into the ground. You will get the proper idea of the stroke immediately, as this is quite impossible. The loft of the club will throw the ball into the air every time.

Read Between The Lines!

The everyday interests of the people of the city are reflected in the A-B-C Classified Ads. A little reading between the lines, and the story is complete.

They tell of the needs and hopes of men in business, of good housekeepers all over the city, of the families in thousands of homes.

The Browns are selling their car because they have lost money—or because they want to buy a larger one. The Smiths are advertising their furniture for sale because they have refurnished their living room. Jones' business is picking up—he is advertising for more help.

Losses, gains, economies, hopes—all are here. And combined with this human interest is the keenest sort of buying and selling opportunity for readers who know the saving of time and money that comes with the regular reading of these changing little ads.

Milwaukee—After much dickering
the Badger State Athletic association
has completed a card for July 27th,
the same to be held at the Milwaukee
Baseball Park.

Joe Sangor, pride of the ghetto district of Milwaukee, will meet the clever Harry Lenard of Chicago in the windup event of three ten rounders.
Lenard is one of the cleverest fighters

do so. He has fought boys like Tommy Ryan, Rosey Stoy (twice), Jackie
Nichols, Earl McArthur, Pal Moore,
Howard Mayberry, Clarence Rosen,
Herb Schaefer, Johnny Sheppard, Al

gained a decision over Shea.

Recently Lenard gave the Mexican,
Ortiz, a severe beating at Oshkosh,
winning ten of the ten rounds.

Harry Kahn, who has recently beaten Sid Berdarian of Detroit, Billy Borfield and others, will tackle Dick Conlon of Pennsylvania. Dick will be remembered for his splendid fight against Johnny O'Donnell, when he beat O'Donnell in the tenth round.

Y'S MEN COP 1ST
LARK LOOP GAME

Kiwanis Are Victims of 12-6
Defeat as Crippled Lineups
Clash Tuesday

STANDINGS	W.	L.	Pct.
Rotary	5	1	.833
Kiwanis	4	2	.571
Lions	1	3	.250
Y's Men	1	4	.200

Clouting the offerings of McKenzie
hard and bunched blows in two frames, the Y's Mens club of the Lark loop won its first game of the season Tuesday afternoon at Jones
park, making the second-place Kiwanis victims of a 12-6 defeat. The loss by the Kiwanis practically clinches the 1926 loop pennant for the Rotarians unless they are upset twice
or three times in the next two weeks of play. The Y's Men merely gained in the percentage column by the win
though proving a great help to the leading Rotarians.

The Rotarians gained the lead in the past two weeks after being tied with the Kiwanis for three weeks.
They won from the Kiwanis and Y's Men. The Kiwanis in turn took a forefeit from the Lions and the Lion-Y's Mens game was called off. The second-place Kiwanis still have a postponed tilt with the leading Rotarians to be played off and still have a chance to take the title, though it is slim. Thursday the Lions are carded to meet the Rotarians.

Both teams played Tuesday afternoon with a "patched" lineup, consisting of seven men on one side and eight on the other. The Y's Men had two ringers while the Kiwanis employed a pair of Lions to round out its team. McKenzie and Doc Carlson formed the losing battery
while R. Colvin and Bender hurled got the newspaper verdict. Dick has been fighting in the east most of the time and recently defeated Harry Felix according to his record.

Joe Klein will go against the hardest kind of game when he meets Jackie Nichols of Detroit, formerly of St. Paul. Nichols has battled Billy
Petrolle, Earl McArthur, Howard
Mayberry, Joey Schwartz, Walter
Goozeman, Ted Joyce, Eddie Anderson,
Ray Miller and Chick Suggs. The latter is now entered for the title tourney
in New York.

There will be a four round started between Howard Bentz, protege of Richie Mitchell, and Billy Besch of the Doc Hoffman stable.

ELECTRIC LIGHT BLAST
IGNITES GASOLINE FUME

George Laux, 40, 1317 S. Jackson-st., was severely burned about the head
and face and hands about 4 o'clock
Tuesday afternoon when the explosion of an electric light globe ignited
gasoline which he was using to clean
the inside of a generator case at the Vulcan power house of the Atlas mill.
Laux was assisted from the case by workmen who succeeded in extinguishing the fire in Laux's hair and clothing.

The injured man was taken to St.
Elizabeth hospital where he will be confined for about two weeks. He had been employed with the Kimberly-
Clark company for about eight years.

THE KIWANIS TOOK A BIG LEAD

The Kiwanis took a big lead to start off with piling up three runs in the opening and another in the second. In this frame the Y's Men took two and then added three more in the third for their first lead, 5-4. Neither team scored in the fourth and both added two in the fifth for a 7-6 lead for the Y's Men. Again neither scored in the sixth and then the balloon went up and before it had settled in the first half of the seventh and last frame Y's Men had trotted over the platter five times. In the final half, the Kiwanis went out 1-2-3.

Markets

CHECK COLLAPSE
OF FRENCH FRANC

Stropg Buying Support
Abroad Causes Demand
Rate to Jump 20 Points

New York (AP)—Mixed prices
movements, reflecting a further re-characterized the opening of Wednesday's stock market. In the foreign exchange market the "flight
adjustment of speculative accounts,
from the franc" was checked, at least temporarily, by the appearance
of strong buying support abroad
which caused the demand rate here
to jump 20 points to 216 1/2 cents at the opening. Most of the opening stock quotations disclosed small fractional changes, a drop of 2 1/4 points in General Railway Signal being one of the few early features.

Bear traders, acting on the theory
that the recent decline had not sufficiently corrected the supposedly top heavy speculative position, pressed stocks for sale during the early trading, centering their initial attacks on the motors, which quickly yielded 1
to 2 1/2 points. The weekly report of the American Petroleum Institute, showing an increase of over 20,000
barrels in the daily average of gross
crude oil production in the week ending July 17, furnished an excuse for a renewed attack on the oil shares.

Rails were slow in responding to the excellent June earnings reports
now being published, and in the approval of the revised "nickel plate"
merger plan by the directors of the Pere Marquette and Hocking Valley
railroads.

Foreign exchanges displayed a strong undertone at the opening, all
the continental paper currencies rallying in sympathy with the French franc.

Irregularity continued through the noon dealings but motor and some of the other standard industrials recovered all or part of their early losses.

Meanwhile, bullish operations were
resumed in a number of specialties,
Air Reductions and Texas Gulf Sulfur
plur each climbing at least 3 points to a new high record for the year. A break of 6 1/2 points in Buffalo and Susquehanna preferred to a new 1926
low at 4 1/4 was one of the few important developments in the morning
trading in rails.

The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 1,600,000 shares.
